

The Game Changing Discovery

Reported by Samyol Limbu @Samyol - the reporter

Yesterday at 06:24 am sharp, the owners of the field were woken up from a sudden thud. Laying on their crops was a 'life changing discovery'. A monstrous gemstone plummeted from the atmosphere and collided with the earth of a field. Gladly, no-one was hurt, but it left a question in everyone's mind - where did it come from?

Mr and Mrs Criken (the owners of the field) were peacefully sleeping until a loud thud had suddenly woken them up. A light shone through a crack of a curtain like burning the couples eyes, the bed rumbled due to the enormous rock denting the earth.

The cautious couple slowly peeked through the curtain, what they saw was ~~amazing~~ a towering diamond or you could say 'crystal clear'. It had crushed every single crop in its way, ruining the field.

Hence the loud sound the police were called to research all about this 'rock'.

Sgt Sui has commented,

'In my ~~not~~ whole career I have never witnessed anything like this!

'All my crops are gone, damn you rock!' Mrs Criken added.

'If I buy this crystal my wife will be over the moon!' Added the local business man added.

Despite many exams the answer of where it came from is still unknown. One of the most popular theories are the diamond is just a painted rock or it is part of an asteroid.

Tourists all over the world have travelled just for a glimpse of this crystal. Mr and Mrs Criken have officially sold the rock to the businessman for a whopping 1 billion, they are now the oldest billionaires in the history. 'My wife better be happy after this!' Mr business said. 'I don't care about my crops no more! Me is rich!' replied Mrs Criken. Find out more at www.HTKW.com, Diamond Discovery.com.