

Once I...

Went into an apartment to Save someone's life. I quietly crept out of the basement under the printing press.

I carefully stepped over the stretched looking body's lying still in the shadows on the street. The sky was clear with stars, then something hit me right in the face; it was starting to pour with rain but I carried on walking.

I got to the apartment and opened the door and looked around - there was nothing, I felt scared. Then I saw the baby, there in the high chair, I ignored it! So I ran up the stairs and as quick as I could, and I went into the bathroom. I looked in the draw and found the Aspirin and lego.

Once I got to the basement I heard engine's. I hid against a wall. I waited. A glimpse of a uniform; it was a Nazi officer! I held my breath! They left, I ran into the basement and saw zelda lying there on the floor. I gave the Aspirin to Barry and he put it in zelda's mouth and she woke up.
