

50 Things to do Challenge

Instead of a 'traditional' homework, in each holiday throughout the year, I would like you to have a go at completing some of the things on the '50 things to do before you're 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ ' from the National Trust.

Here is a link to the website and I'll give you a paper copy of the list (although you can download an app on a smartphone/tablet to keep track too!)

<https://www.50things.org.uk/>

There are lots of challenges to take part in on the site, with ideas for where to go and what to do to tick the next item off your list!

You can do as many or as few of the activities each holiday as you like/is possible, but try and have a go at all of them throughout the year!

Record your experiences in any way you choose in your homework book, through writing, computing, making, drawing, photography, singing, acting, quizzing (to name just a few).

Be creative, be imaginative but most of all...have
