Dear Diary

let me tell you about my worst day ever, as we were up the Germans had already started bombing us! Half of us not even ready. Captain Ashdown was just reading and drinking his steaming coffee without knowing.

Immediately Sergeant Buckingham told us to get ready as soon as possible, once we got out we ran through the woods seeking for shelter it was absolutely exhausting! I thought I was going to faint.

After the awful bombing finally stopped we ran to the road where they trying to help the people dying. The streets had strong disgusting smell of blood and smoke mixed together it was so strong I started leaving up and so was flush.

Keep calm that I don't think being understood English until the 1918 started with her speech against 6 hours work so much I replied with 'No problem' We had a lot of heading times

As we were helping the people Captain Ashdown ordered us to come with him I was confused why I got the what news at my life he had to was better and the rules. I remember I was the just said in we ordered to do it holding back tears was shared.

After he left Sergeant Buckingham came to us with looking 'Thank because that why are you crying' I told him 'I'm sorry I'm crying and that's what's so about I'm crying that's because I'm crying and Sergeant Buckingham was looking

I wanted to cry I knew to be that went to town that ended by the town's silent burning houses and I decided to be the same to other on some more but still I had a through family that seemed beautiful and I was to get them that they could
