Willows at Dover Castle

Willows had a fabulous day at the castle on Tuesday. The weather was a little misty but that didn't stop the fun! Thanks you to all the parent helpers who made the trip possible. Not all Willows are in the picture because the temptation to run around was too great!

Y3 had a great time at Dover library on Tuesday. Miss Lawrence even enrolled the school, so we now have our own library card to borrow books related to specific topics.

Gustonbury

Well, it was not quite the weather we were hoping for, for a mid July 'festival', however, the show had to go on! It was a scaled back affair so rather than the pyramid stage, it was just a stage! I'm sure you will agree though, the children were fabulous and did us all proud! Thanks you to you all for coming, I hope you enjoyed it as much as we did!

Art Materials - Can you help?

We are in need for materials that the children can use for weaving. Any spare wool, twine, ribbon, paper streamers, etc. would be gratefully received. We would also like any spare buttons or beads you may have lying around! Thank you so much!

Pines at the Castle

On Thursday 11th of July Pine class were exclusively invited to Dover Castle to take part in the immersive workshop Knights Feasts and Guardrobes. The children were met by Lady Eleanor at the steps of the Great Tower before having a guided tour of her home. Alisha condemned Harry to a trial by fire and Suhana enjoyed cleaning her meat in the kitchen. The children were amazing, fully entering into the rolls of servants and nights guard (toilet cleaner) to name but a few. They ended their visit by laying siege to the castle walls. What made the day all the more impressive was that their trip was filmed for the English Heritage website.

SUMMER HOLIDAYS

24/7/24—03/9/24

Good luck England!

Since I have been forced to embrace football over the last few years, (my son is a keen player!), I do understand the importance of joining together to support the national team in the Euro's final on Sunday. However, whilst we do expect there to be late nights and some 'more tired than usual' faces on Monday, registration will open and close at the normal time.

We promise to go easy on them all though!

Come on England!
