

- I can write in a narrative format
- I can choose my vocabulary for effect
- I can vary my sentence length
- I can create a picture for the reader's mind

One night Francis came out of her tent and went to the boat nearby. Francis unties the rope from the boat, then she slowly tip toes onto the boat because she doesn't want her parents to wake up. She starts to row the boat, it was dark but peaceful and she rows further and further away. When she rows the boat into the middle of the lake she takes out a cigarette and starts smoking. After she throws the cigarette butt into the lake. From underneath the boat she hears two loud knocks, she starts to feel a little scared. One minute later, there are another two knocks but it is louder this time. Francis is now feeling even more scared. Then Francis thinks it could just be a bunch of crabs using their claws to hit underneath the boat. However, another two knocks hit the boat again and this time Francis is terrified.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---